Children in any of the Early Learning Centers must be toilet trained before enrollment in our program. This means that a child must be able to use the toilet, and wipe themselves, independently. This process takes time to master, practice at home will ensure that a child is ready for school. In case of an emergency, we will ensure that all students have an extra pair of pants in their backpack.

A child will be expected to be toilet trained for our preschool program. A child must consistently have toilet accidents for two weeks of enrollment in our program.

After week two, if one or more accidents occur in a one week period, the parents will be notified and required to sign the toilet accident log.

3. Listen to all points of view, both for your own information and so children can learn what others believe they need. The details revealed about a conflict are very important in finding a solution. Listen carefully
- 4 Use as much of the children's language as possible and rephrase child language that may be hurtful
5. Respect the child's ideas, even if some are unrealistic. Explore how they might work

All children will be monitored carefully to assure that immunizations are and current. We appreciate your cooperation. Your child's health is a prerequisite to learning ability. Children need adequate rest and nourishment before school each day.

The control of communicable diseases during the school year is a difficult problem and a serious responsibility. The first responsibility must fall upon the home because parents know the normal appearance of their children and should be the first to detect the signs of illness. (The symptoms of a cold are the symptoms of many communicable diseases.) The following rules will help control communicable diseases and illness in the school community. Please keep it as a convenient reference.

Do not send a child to school if there are signs of illness

Children must be fever free for 24 hours, without the aid of medication to attend class.

Children should not vomit or have diarrhea for at least 24 hours without the aid of medication prior to attending school

Do not send a sick child to school for the nurse or instructor to decide if the child should be in school. If in doubt, parents should call their physician

If a child is sick, keep other people away from the child

Some signs and symptoms of acute illness are:

Runny nose

Headache

Fever

Sneezing/Coughing

Diarrhea

Flushed face or paleness

Rash

Restlessness at night

Nausea/Vomiting

Swelling of the face and neck

Red, crusted, watery eyes

Ear ache

If a child comes to school ill or becomes ill while at school, parents will be notified by telephone. Parents will then need to make to pick up the sick child.

The child will remain in the nurse's office or isolated with adult supervision in the classroom until the parent/ guardian arrives.

Call your instructor to report any illness. Call as early as possible

Fill out Emergency Cards on each child. Keep the information on these cards current by telling the instructor when changes have occurred throughout the year

- Health status/medications/allergies

If your child has allergies they need to be listed on the enrollment form and discussed with the program instructor/coor
